The office of the city secretary at City Hall is the clearing department for any and all complaints about city services or alleged violations of any city ordinance.

In a statement this week, Edwin Bigbee, the city's code inspector said the secretary's office at 308 S. Houston is open on Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Belton Wins Zone By Downing Yoemen

By Marilyn Hawk

A standing room only crowd watched Belton claim the zone title Friday night as they defeated the Yoemen 14-6.

The game started with the Yoemen kicking to Belton. After four plays the ball was turned over to Cameron. They made it to the Belton 45 but lack of a first down forced the Yoemen to punt.

Late in the second quarter the Yoemen took possession of the ball at their own 47-yd line. After a long drive lasting through the quarter change the Yoemen were faced with 4 and 3 at the Belton-14. A field goal attempt by Gene Kopriva was foiled when the ball hit the goal post.

Later in the fourth quarter Cameron drove from their own 47 to the Cameron 4. This field goal attempt was also no good.

The second half was largely dominated by Belton. A long drive from

School Board Meets

The Cameron school board meeting in regular session Thursday evening appointed a textbook committee, approved hiring one teacher and an aide, and decided to hold a special meeting to discuss the school bond issue which failed in an October vote.

The textbook committee includes Supt. D. R. Dodson, John M. Chubb, William Huffman, Arnett Zelisko, Louis Gunn, Sue Fuquay, Merle Hickman, Ima Batte, Kenneth Freeman, Ada Margaret Smith, Max Graham, Fred Johns, Barbara Burke, Pat Short and Carol Farr.

Trustees also officially hired Mrs. Frances Walzel as high school math teacher and Minnie Nell Crummer as a teacher's aide.

Supt. Dodson reported that he had been notified by the Texas Education Agency that the 13 students from Maysfield attending Cameron schools were not residents of the district and should not have been transferred to this district.

Dodson was authorized to send a letter stating that the Cameron district had accepted the students "in good faith" and if they were forced to withdraw salary for one teacher would have to come out of local funds, causing the district a hardship.

Trustees also discussed the congestion around Ada Henderson school in the afternoon by buses lined up and parents waiting in cars to pick up students.

It was suggested that bus students be let out early so the buses could leave, but Supt. Dodson explained that high school must have a seven-hour day, meaning they could not be let out early.

Also discussed was the matter of a fire escape for the Ada Henderson building, brought up by Mrs. Reeves Brown. Supt. Dodson said the building had been declared fire-proof. Trustees authorized him to find out how much one would cost or look into getting one from a school building being demolished.

Date of the December meeting was changed from the second Thursday to Tuesday, December 11.

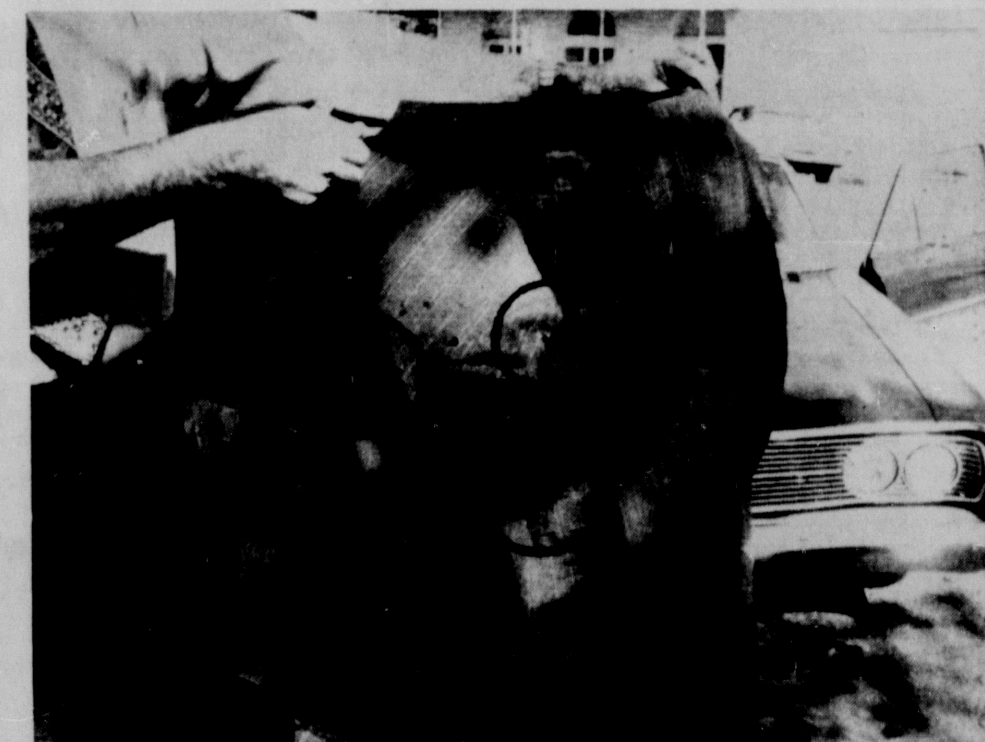

Dodson told trustees that he had gotten some rough estimates from a steel building firm in Waco, and that buildings of steel construction are much less expensive than those planned for the bond issue proposal.

For instance, the four classrooms for Ben Milam would cost $33,600 as against $81,000 on the bond issue. The six classroom addition for Yoe High would be about $72,800 as opposed to $174,500 in the bond issue. A basic gym and field house with seating would be $125,794 compared to $360,500.

These figures were for just the buildings, not the finish work, he said.

Trustees agreed to hold a special meeting to discuss the bond election, but no date was set.

Present for the meeting were trustees Calvin Cobb, Dana Kestenbaum, Charles McDermott, Bently Hause and Mrs. Reeves Brown. Forrest Sapp and Fredwill Hornung were absent.

SLASH MARKS are circled on the jacket worn by Sheriff's Deputy Earl Beathard who was attacked by a knife-wielding man in the courthouse hall Friday afternoon.

New Faces Await
State Legislature Opening

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN

The State Legislature which convenes January 9 will be vastly different from the present one which has served through the 1971 regular and four special sessions.

There will be 77 new faces in the 150-member House and 15 new members of the 31-member Senate. (Five of the House newcomers have served before the 1971 session, and six present House members will be serving in the Senate).

Dolph Briscoe, of course, will succeed Preston Smith as governor, and Bill Hobby will preside over the Senate, succeeding Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Rep. Price Daniel of Liberty will become Speaker of the House, replacing Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine.

Basically, the House is expected to be a more liberal body than the present one, and the new Senate considerably more conservative.

Republicans, women and blacks increased their strength in the House; and the GOP added one more senator, for a total of three. There will be 17 Republican state representatives--seven from Dallas, seven from Houston, two from San Antonio and one from Midland. GOP senators were elected in Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth.

Fingerprinting
the Jobholder

Employees of several stock brokerage firms were up in arms. Under a new state law, they had to be fingerprinted in order to keep their jobs. Taking the matter to court, they claimed this was an invasion of their right of privacy.

But the court could see no grounds for complaint. The judge said this minor invasion of privacy was outweighed by the major benefit to the public in reducing thefts of stocks and bonds.

Laws in a number of states now require the fingerprinting of employees in "sensitive" occupations. Almost always, the courts have overruled the assorted constitutional objections raised by disgruntled individuals.

In fact, the law no longer considers fingerprinting to be any great hardship anyhow. In another case, a used furniture dealer complained about a fingerprint requirement for anyone selling second-hand goods.

"It makes the people in my line of business look like criminals," he said in a court hearing.

But the court disagreed, pointing out that fingerprints are now used routinely in hospitals, schools, and government as a reliable means of identification. As one judge put it:

"The day is long past when fingerprinting carried with it a stigma of criminality."

This does not mean, however, that the police may resort to high-handed methods to obtain fingerprints. Consider the following case:

Officers investigating a burglary took a man into custody even though they had no adequate grounds for arrest. The reason: to obtain his fingerprints. As it happened, the prints did turn out to be incriminating.

Nevertheless, they were held not admissible against the man in court. The judge said the Constitution forbids "wholesale intrusions upon the personal security of our citizenry."

The Informed Consumer

The Texas Proprietary School Act was enacted by the 62nd session of the Legislature in 1971. The bill was aimed at the regulation of privately owned, profit making business, vocational, technical, and home study schools which do business in Texas. Standards are provided for the assurance of adequate facilities, equipment, curriculums, and instructors.

The Texas Education Agency, Division of Proprietary Schools is responsible for the administration of the Act. This Division sees itself as a consultative staff whose function is to work with proprietary schools in upgrading the quality of instruction. The thrust of the Act is to assure that job oriented education in private schools produces results and also to assure that the advertising of such schools is both factual and truthful.

Schools are required to post bonds to help insure that the school is financially responsible and to help defray closing costs if for some reason a school must close its doors. This gives protection to students who are enrolled in the school at the time of closing and who should receive tuition refunds. Schools must give a detailed picture of their operations to the Texas Education Agency and must meet certain standards to be certified to do business in the State.

School representatives or salesmen must also post a bond and register with the Texas Education Agency. They are prohibited from giving out misleading information about their school, its courses, or job opportunities up graduation. Salesmen are not permitted to solicit students for a school unless they have a representative permit issued by the Texas Education Agency.

Busier Than Ever...

President-re-elect Nixon has added reform to plans for tightening up of bureaucracy in his post-election announcements.

John Connally immediately has been mentioned as a prospect for Secretary of State in a new Nixon cabinet, a prospect he says he does not seek. If he were to be drafted for such a post, it is likely that Henry Kissinger, who has rewritten much of world geo-politics, will step out. Connally's appointment as head of "foggy bottom", a euphemism for State Department, would herald an era of strong leadership when Presidents have, in effect, been their own state secretary.

Mr. Nixon's landslide, clearly a personal win rather than a Republican sweep, puts him in the position of personal leadership across the political board unique among the minority party's 20th century presidents. It could well determine how his personal win translates into his hopes for the GOP to become the "new majority" party.

A Democratic Congress will be pressed to fend off Nixonian efforts for government reforms and economies. The dimension of the win, though at 77 millions in votes, some 8 million less than expected, is going to bring ideological alignment among conservative Democrats and the minority GOP House and Senate.

Mr. Nixon can implement enormous improvement in domestic areas by the prestige of this vote, following final peace signing in Vietnam. New markets are rapidly opening in China and Russia for major American industries, which should improve productivity and employment well into the second Nixon term.

Hundreds of changes are scheduled in bureaucratic leadership, just below policy level, but political appointments. Many new cabinet members will be named.

Mr. Nixon promises efforts to maintain economics and strengthen Americans belief in themselves, a major undertaking, but not beyond the office of President. He will be busier than ever.

Governor In Transition

Reform will be the major news story in Gov-elect's Dolph Briscoe's 1973-74 term, continuing the movement toward legislative reform and constitution rewrite.

Mr. Briscoe will be governor going into office by close margin. The present Texas Constitution restricts that office's powers. And it will be rewritten sometimes after 1974.

Forces are in motion for a conservative Texas Senate, but a reform-minded House, both bodies coming back to Austin with about 50 percent remake, and an increase in Republicans, though small, female representatives and minorities.

It will give the new govern-nor the same difficulty he had in the factionalized delegation at the 1972 Democratic Convention. The inherent difficulties of government amix might break a Texas tradition of giving a man two terms in office if performance is adequate. Times ahead for Texas state government are going to require some strong, even inspired leadership. The old norms, pressured by metropolitan votes, probably won't stand.

Mr. Briscoe has been out of office for about 15 years, following a career in finance and ranching. He will find in his first term Texas government enormously changed from that in the mid-50s, which, of course, he knows.

Hearings Set On New Rural Act

Rural Texas areas, subject of much concern over their loss of population in recent years, have a chance to reverse this alarming trend through the new Texas Rural Development Act, passed by the 62nd Legislature.

The Texas Rural Development Act is designed to help with up to 40 percent of the cost of financing new or expanding industry in rural areas for qualifying non-profit foundations.

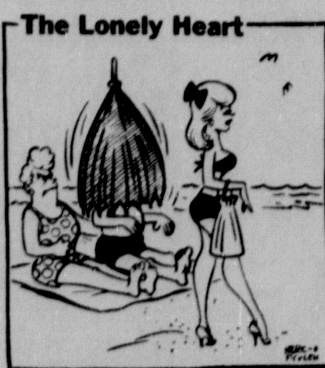

The Legislature passed this act strictly to help the ailing economy of rural Texas.

The Texas Industrial Commission, charged with administration of the new law, has set regional public hearings in four cities during the month of November to determine just who is eligible for this aid.

Officially, rural areas are defined in the act as those losing population during the last two federal census, or those areas gaining less population or less manufacturing employment than the average for the state's Standard Metropolitan Areas.

All of rural Texas should attend these hearings to find out more about the new act, and to take the first positive step in doing something about the economic losses rural Texas has faced, the Commission stated.

Badgers Tally Another Victory

The Buckholts Badgers tallied another victory Friday night as they handed the Olgiesby Tigers a 63-12 defeat. The Badgers are now 3-0 in district standings.

The game was stopped early in the third quarter because of the 45 point rule.

The Badgers had complete dominance over the ball as they made the first six touchdowns of the game.

Larry Orsag started the Badger scoring as he dashed 27 yards to the goal line on the second play of the game. The PAT attempt failed.

Dale Walzel intercepted a Tiger pass and ran it 28 yds. for the next TD. The extra-point attempt was no good.

The passing part of the game started for the Badgers as Orsag hurled the ball to Carl Tomascik for a 46 yd. touchdown. Walzel found Orsag in the endzone for the extra point.

Orsag made his second touchdown of the night as he scored on a 1 yarder. This time Walzel found Glenn Roesler in the endzone for the extra-point.

Orsag passed to Early Webb for the next Badger TD. Walzel added 2 points on the PAT attempt.

Walzel made the next TD on a pass run of 53 yards. A Walzel-to-Roesler pass was good for the PAT.

Olgiesby put six points on the score board as Gary Bankhead caught a pass from Freddy Wherman.

The Badgers scored on a pass from Orsag to Webb for a 44 yd. TD. Dale Walzel added 2 points on the extra-point attempt.

The Tigers came back to score on a four yd. run by Freddy Wherman. The PAT was no good.

The Badgers got on the score board again on a 26 yd. run by Larry Orsag. The extra point failed.

The Webb - Orsag combination struck again for six points. The extra points were good by Dale Walzel.

The Badgers will meet the Jarrell Cougars on Cougar Field Friday, Nov. 10 at 7:30. Both teams are tied for district with 3-0 records.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Introducing Courant.
The fragrance capable of expressing what a woman is capable of feeling.

Because you are a complicated being.
Because your emotions can never be described in simple terms.

Because your feelings about anything, anytime, can change and grow and change again, we created Courant.

Courant responds to your own chemistry. To the way your pulse quickens because someone you love walks into a room.

Or the way your temperature rises, just because someone you love walks out of a room.

Courant responds to you just as your body responds to your emotions.

And as your emotions change, Courant changes.

Air Force Museum Shows History Of Man's Flights

By Walter R. McCabe

Dayton, Ohio

This year of 1972, the Silver Anniversary of the Air Force, which became an independent branch of the armed services in 1947, is expected to see a record number of Americans make a pilgrimage to an extraordinary museum - The U.S. Air Force Museum.

The Air Force Museum, patterned after a giant hangar in the early days of aviation, is in a new six million dollar home on the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, five miles outside Dayton.

The museum, which is the oldest and largest military aviation museum in the world is laid out in a maze that takes the visitor on a chronological walk through aviation history. It goes back to Chinese and Greek Mythology, and research of Leonardo Da Vinci hundreds of years before the Wright Brothers were born.

The Wright brothers, Wilbur and Orville, most commonly associated with Kitty Hawk, N. C., where they pioneered heavier-than-air aviation in 1903, made their home in Dayton, where they ran a bicycle shop. Many of their early flights took place near the museum's site.

The new museum, completed in August, 1971, replaces the original Air Force museum established in 1923 at nearby McCook field in Dayton. It is almost 800 feet long, 300 feet wide and 80 feet high, with a clear space 240 feet deep to allow freedom in the placement of aircraft and exhibits.

At the entrance of the museum, the visitor is greeted by a blue panel portraying birds in flight, bearing the message: "Since the beginning of time, there have been those men who looked to the sky, who envied birds their graceful, soaring flight... This is the story of those men... of remarkable things..."

The museum, which features more than 150 authentic aircraft and missiles, provides visitors with an exciting journey through the entire history of manned flight.

It starts with "Flight and Fantasy," showing large-scale drawings, models and dioramas depicting the story from the fantasies of mythology through Da Vinci's sketches of flying machines that existed only in his imagination, then to the era of the balloonists, and finally, to the heavier-than-air flying machines.

Among the exhibits is a full-scale reproduction of the Wright 1909 military flyer which was presented to the U.S. Army in that year, and which is the progenitor of every fighting aircraft through today's jets.

Some of the legendary aircraft on exhibit are the world War I Jenny, which was never used in combat but turned out to be the basic training and stunt-flying plane of the 1920's; The French Spad, which Eddie Rickenbacker and other American aces flew in World War I; the German Fokker and the World War II Sopwith Camel; The World War II B-17, the famed Flying Fortress; Germany's Messerschmitt; and Britain's Spitfire.

Also, the blunt-spouted P-47 Thunderbolt, and the needle-nosed P-51 Mustang; the post World War II Black Widow; the Thunderjet of the 1950's and the fabled flying Boxcar.

There are also vehicles from the space age, including the Discoverer XIV space satellite and the Hound Dog missile.

Bill Hobby To Headline Farmers Union Convention

Lieutenant Governor elect William Hobby of Houston will be one of the headliners at the annual convention of Texas Farmers Union to be held at the Inn of the Six Flags in Arlington December 7-9. Hobby will address the annual banquet session on Friday night, December 8.

According to the Farmers Union state office in Waco, a preliminary list of those expected to address the convention in addition to Hobby include State Land Commissioner Robert Armstrong, Stanley Moore of Jamestown, North Dakota, assistant to the president of North Dakota Farmers Union, and National Farmers Union economist Robert Lewis of Denver, Colorado.

National Farmers Union President Tony Dechant, also of Denver, will open the convention with the keynote speech on Thursday night, December 7.

The Farmers Union board of directors composed of county affiliate presidents, will meet prior to the convention on Thursday, December 7, to elect district directors to fill vacancies in four of the nine multi-county Farmers Union districts.

The convention will adopt a program from resolutions submitted by the county organizations and elect officers to serve for 1972.

State officers presently serving are Jay Naman of Waco, President; Joe Rankin of Ralls, Vice President; and Elizabeth Doshier of McGregor, Secretary-Treasurer.

League Has Program On Drug Abuse

Larry Coker, recent graduate of the University of Houston College of Pharmacy, presented a program on drug identification and drug abuse for the Arts and Service League November meeting Thursday afternoon at the Cameron Public Library.

Coker who was introduced by Mrs. Bernay Dusek, illustrated his talk with color slides identifying addictive drugs. He noted that the use of LSD had declined and that there was no longer any legalized use of the drug in the United States even for scientific experimentation.

During a business meeting following the program Mrs. Ed Magre and Mrs. Dana Kestenbaum were appointed to study community needs and suggest possible uses for League benefit funds.

Mrs. Bill Dase, League president, announced that the next "Matinee Movie" for local children will be December 16 at the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

During the social hour cake topped with whipped cream and fruit punch were served by the hostess: Mrs. Delbert Burleson and Mrs. Paul Young.

Garden Club Talented Miss From Buckholts Call Meeting Reaching For Higher Stars

Mrs. Durwood Cobb, president of the Fleur de lis Garden Club has called a business meeting for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 14 at the home of Mrs. Monroe Fuchs.

Mrs. Cobb said special business will include election of new members. The originally scheduled club picnic has been postponed until Friday, November 17.

Doors Of Yoe

By Marilyn Hawk

When Cindy Kunz goes to the grocery store she seldom goes alone. Recently her faithful friend and pet "Smokey" followed her inside and almost refused to leave until Cindy did.

On election day Miss Smith's classes had the opportunity to express their feelings by marking sample ballots. For several days before the election they studied party platforms and the amendments.

Debby Bryant and Merri Huntsman, ya'll had better watch what you eat. Tomain poisoning can be painful.

Yoe High Juniors went through the experience of ordering Senior rings Tuesday.

Mr. Chubb was serenaded the other day as he walked by one of the first floor rooms. Choruses of "Happy Birthday" announced to all that this was a special day for our principal.

Janisue Zajicek, who danced her way to county and district talent titles, is in Houston this week to reach for a higher star in the Texas Farm Bureau statewide Talent Find contest.

A senior at Buckholts High School, she is competing in Houston for a first place scholarship prize against district talent winners from across Texas. A plus on her side is that she won both talent and beauty titles in Milam County's Farm Bureau contests last July.

Competition should be 'old hat' to Janisue. She has competed successfully in Inter-scholastic League - one act play, prose, poetry and persuasive speaking; and sports - basketball, volleyball and track. She also won a spot as cheerleader at Buckholts High School.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Zajicek, Jr., Janisue attended school in Houston until 1967 when her family moved to Buckholts.

She has been a ballet student for five years and studied at Skidmore College in New York last summer.

Though her hobbies are mostly home and outdoor oriented - swimming, horse-back riding and sewing - she plans a major in dance and minor in drama for her college career.

The Talent Find contest is being held in conjunction with the Texas Farm Bureau State convention, Nov. 12-15.

Should Janisue win again this week, she will be sent to the national convention in Los Angeles, California, in December and a chance for national honors.

ALL IN THE FAMILY?

Football, old chop, is as American as apple pie, vanilla ice cream and John Wayne.

And, in case you hadn't noticed, a family affair.

Nobody in these parts need be reminded that the Koyes, are legend at the University of Texas, or that the Krueger's are a big name at Texas A&M. Then, there have the Brezinas and Peacocks at Houston U. and the Southalls at Baylor. And, there are others.

But, new generations are cropping up everywhere to mirror stars of yesteryear. How about another Chris Gilbert, the 1968 UT All-American, or a new Tom Stohlhandske, the '52 All-American Longhorn end, out of Baytown?

Or, another Sonny Wyatt, the wild-running Rice tailback of the Late Forties? How about another Leo Daniels, the Triple-threat star who let the 1941 Texas Aggies to the SWC Championship?

Well, pull up a chair.

GILBERTS, WYATTS AT MEMORIAL.

Chris Gilbert's brother Brad, is one of Spring Branch Memorial's top running Rice tailback of the Late ning backs. And, Judd Wyatt, Sonny's 140-pound son, is the other. Young Gilbert is a 175 senior and can move. Wyatt, only a sophomore, has all that speed and moves his Papa used to dazzle SWC defenders. On the same team, Mike Wyatt, is a superb Senior wide-receiver and broken-field runner at 155. He, too, is Sonny Wyatt's offspring.

But, Earl and Sadie Gilbert, are not through. Their Caboose, Craig Gilbert, is at 130-pounds, a carbon copy of his famous older brother, Chris. In his first five games at Spring Branch Junior High he broke for six long-distance touchdowns. In 1973 Craig Gilbert will join Judd Wyatt on the Memorial varsity.

Toby Stohlhandske, Tom's son, is a starting line-backer on Bill Ellington's University of Texas Frosh, while Peter Daniels, is a talented halfback on Rosenberg-Richmond's Lamar Consolidated Mustangs. Young Stohlhandske is out of San Antonio Churchill where his Pop, an attorney, is a Bexar County Commissioner.

Bill Wyman, Texas' 230-pound starting center and Mike Wyman, the 220-pound TCU Freshman center are brothers. And, their Papa, Billy Wyman, was a tremendous Rice center in the Wyatt era. Wyman's UT Backup Center is 235-pound Bob Tresch, a Houston Lee Soph, whose Dad, Bob Tresch, was all ALL-SWC end under Jess Neely at Rice. The Wymans, like Rice Linebacker John Kelly are out of Spring Branch High. John Kelly Sr., who an Owl star of another day.

Mike Pillow, an outstanding end on Al Dennis's strong Baytown Sterling team, is the son of Micky Pillow, a former All-State Robert E. Lee end who played baseball so well, the Dodgers shelled out a bonus for his signature... After Bobby Layne's first son, Rob who was Darrell Royal's UT placekicker, his second Allan, a tight end- chose TCU... Wade Johnston, the 230-pound Soph line-backer at UT, is keeping the Koy Klan going at Texas. His Mom is Big Ernie Koy's cousin.

Then, Gary Yeoman, son of UH coach Bill Yeoman, is an integral part of Mike Campbell's UT defense as a specialist line-backer... Dennis Rhodes, Brazoswood's 170-pound defensive back, has followed Big Brother Danny Rhodes to Arkansas... Star Baylor QB Neal Jeffrey is the son of Former Bear Star Roger Jeffrey... Frosh Arkansas Safety Tommy Harris is the brother of Dallas Cowboy Defensive Star Cliff Harris. GOFORTH, RHODES

EALFVS: Mark Harmon, the UCLA Quarterback, is not the only one currently doing what Dad once did on the gridiron. Art Goforth, the rough Rice guard of the early Forties, has a very offensive son. Bart Goforth, 230, is Rice's starting offensive guard. Art is Clear Creek High Principal...As mentioned before Houston U. Linebacker Deryl McGallion is the son of Successful Silsbee High Coach Ray McGallion. The current Silsbee QB is Butch McGallion, the old Tyler Junior College star's second son.

Baylor has Lester Ealey, a tailback wearing the Number 34, his brother Don Ealey packs as Texas' starting left halfback and Lamar Tech's Fullback Mike Drake is the son of Jim Drake, one of Texas City's all-time great running backs, who quarterbacked those Tyler Jaycee teams McGallion fullbacked...Mike Dean, the Soph ling-distance kicking star at UT is the nephew of Tom Dean, the giant SMU tackle of the Doak Walker days.

TCU defensive back Lyle Blackwood's Dad, of the same name, was a Baylor star back...Texas has two Soph Tackles, Garry and Larry Smith who were recruited by Buz Sawyer Creator Roy Crane. Crane, a UT football enthusiast, and the Smiths, are from Sweetwater.

UT's Frosh QB Marty Akins played high school football for his Coaching Father and Texas Defensive Half-back Mike Rowan is the son of Rip Rowan, the former All-American Army half-back. And, Mike's nephew of Mike Campbell, Royal's Defensive Commander. He, then, is the Cousin of twins Tom and Mike Campbell, defensive stars of UT's 1969 National Champions. He is also the brother of Walter Rowan UT Frosh halfback and a cousin to Texas' Frosh Quarterback Bobby Rowan.

There are more, But, obviously, you are tired. The Kennedys can keep their Touch Football. Some other groups play it a little tougher!

Texas 500 Signs 8 Natl. Winners

COLLEGE STATION Pete Hamilton has entered the third annual Texas 500 that is to be held over the ultra-fast, high banked Texas World Speedway.

When the green flag is dropped for the start of the Texas 500, Hamilton will be among eight National Champions already entered. They include Richard Petty, NASCAR Grand National Champion; Bobby Allison, former Modified title holder; Tiny Lund, NASCAR Grand American champ; Ron Hutcheson, current ARCA National Champion; and former ARCA title winners, Ramo Stott and Benny Parsons. Also USAC king, A. J. Foyt who won the title in USAC's Championship car division five times and the stock car division in 1968 is entered. Hamilton's 1967 Late Model Sportsman National Championship makes him the eighth National Champion to enter so far.

The rich FIA-NASCAR sanctioned event starts at 1 p.m. on Sunday, November 12.

Aggie Wishbone Is Home For A&M's Brad Dusek

Texas A&M's Brad Dusek has found a home. He is alive and well at fullback in the Aggie Wishbone. Dusek, now a senior, came to Aggieland as an All-American safety and quarter-back from Temple. His father, Big Ed Dusek, played fullback and line-backer for the Aggies in 1942-46-47 and there wasn't any other school for Brad when it came time to sign.

As a freshman, Dusek spent most of his time at safety where he was named the Southwest Conference's outstanding freshman. He was switched to running back as a sophomore, but a pulled hamstring crippled his season. As a junior, it was back to safety. He finished the year as the team's third leading tackler, had three interceptions, recovered two fumbles and was named second team All-SWC.

Then Emory Bellard brought his Wishbone to Texas A&M, and he had a fullback waiting for him. "Brad would be a good fullback in any offense," Bellard said. "He's a contact football player and is similar to good hands and is an exceptional blocker."

Dusek was pictured on the cover of Texas Football Magazine, but it looked like that old jinx was going to get him again. He strained a knee after catching a screen pass against Nebraska and did not play against LSU and Army.

After a long struggle, it looks like the 6-2, 212-pounder is finally ready to show the world.

Dusek wears No. 44, the first Aggie to wear that number since John David Crow carried it to Heisman Trophy fame in 1957.
